Township Preschool Teacher Retires After 33 Years

JoAnn Lauri is a preschool teacher that has educated and touched the lives of the youth of Gloucester Township for 33 years. She is well respected among her peers and the community.

She is known to be hard-working by her co-workers not only for her dedication to her students, but also for maintaining two jobs throughout the years. JoAnn has been an educator for many years and has even taught some of the parents of her current students.

She began in the program's early years at the Municipal Building and moved to the Recreation Center where she has taught children for the last three decades.

JoAnn's own daughter was one of the first students in the Gloucester Township Preschool program.

She is now retiring, but will continue in her lifelong commitment to children by taking care of her young grandson. Mayor David Mayor congratulates JoAnn on her retirement and wishes her continued success, happiness, and good health in the years to come.

take 25

Make time to talk about child safety.

TAKE 25 ON MAY 25

The Gloucester Township Police Department encourages parents to spend a few minutes teaching their children about safety, as this could mean the difference between life and death.

Every year in the United States, thousands of children are reported missing or abducted. Though the vast majority are often located quickly, this continuing problem underscores the need for parents, communities, and law enforcement to take an active role in showing children how to be safe.

The Take 25 Campaign, created by the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC), encourages parents and guardians to take 25 minutes on May 25, National Missing Children's Day, to talk to their children about staying safe.

If you have any questions please contact the Gloucester Township Community Relations Bureau at 856-228-4011 or email Officer Jenn McLaughlin at Jmclaughlin@gtpolice.com or Officer Erica Marconi at EricaMarconi@gtpolice.com.
