EXCESSIVE HEAT WARNING

In the midst of this heat wave, the Gloucester Township Police Department would like to remind our residents of the dangers of excessive heat.

The early warning signs of heat stress are decreased energy, slight loss of appetite, faintness, light-headedness and nausea. People experiencing these symptoms should go to a cool environment, drink liquids, remove excess clothing and rest.

Serious signs of heat stress include unconsciousness, rapid heartbeat, throbbing headache, dry skin, chest pain, mental confusion, irritability, vomiting, diarrhea, muscle cramps, staggering and difficulty breathing. People experiencing these symptoms should get immediate medical attention.

We understand that some residents do not have air conditioning so visit the link below for a list of local cooling centers: CLICK HERE

During a heat wave, keep in mind that it is important to slow down, stay indoors and avoid strenuous activity especially during the hottest part of the day. You also don't want to forget about your furry, four-legged friends!

Pet owners are encouraged to keep an eye on their animals frequently to make sure they are not suffering from the heat. When walking your dogs, keep in mind that pavements can be very hot and cause burns.

For more information on Heat Wave Safety, you can visit redcross.org.
